

SHERRY SURRETTE, Ph.D.

Natural Heritage Program Coordinator

Phone: 601.354.7303 ext 118

sherry.surrette@mmns.state.ms.us

Summary:

Sherry Surrette joins the conservation biology staff as the new coordinator of the Mississippi Natural Heritage Program. She directs activities of the Natural Heritage Program and facilitates the development and maintenance of Mississippi's biological database of rare, threatened and endangered species and habitats. Sherry comes to us from the USDA-Natural Resources Conservation Service where she served as State Plant Materials Specialist. Surrette earned a B.S. in Agronomy from the University of Tennessee at Martin, a M.S. in Agronomy from Mississippi State University, and a Ph.D. in Biology from the University of Mississippi.